

CADDIES MUST BE SIXTEEN

Sinnissippi Golf Club Violating New Child Labor Law Without Knowing It.

LIABLE TO A FINE

Kenosha Judge Made an Interesting Decision Regarding Use of Boys on Golf Links.

While the child labor law enacted by the legislature last winter was not intended to interfere with the great game of golf "as she is golfed" at the Sinnissippi golf club and on the numerous links of the country clubs throughout the state. Nevertheless the employment of caddies, the little boys who carry the bags of clubs, build tees and search for wild balls, is in direct violation of the law unless the caddie be over 16 years of age.

Practically every golf club in the state has been disregarding the law and is liable to the penalty. In most of the clubs the boys who act as caddies are less than the limit in age, although some are old enough not to be touched by the law.

In Kenosha

In Kenosha Judge Russell H. Sloan has ruled that caddies under 16 years of age employed on the links of the Kenosha Country club would have to secure permits before they could continue to carry the club bags for the players. The decision is based on the child labor law. The court holds that boys under 14 years of age can work as caddies during the summer vacation, but the work cannot be continued after the schools open again.

The law reads in part as follows:

The Provision

"No child between the ages of 14 and 16 years shall be employed at any time in any factory or workshop, bowling alley, barroom, beer garden, in or about any mine, store, office, hotel, mercantile establishment, laundry, telegraph, telephone public messenger service or work for wages at any gainful occupation at any place, unless there is first obtained from the commissioner of labor, state, factory inspector, any assistant factory inspector, or from the judge of the county court or municipal court or from the judge of the juvenile court where such child resides, a written permit authorizing the employment of such child within such time or times as the said commissioner of labor, state or factory inspector, county judge municipal judge or judge of juvenile court may fix. No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed at any time in any factory or workshop, bowling alley, barroom, beer garden, or in or about any mine. No child under fourteen years shall be employed, required or suffered to work for wages at any gainful occupation at any time except that during vacation of the public school in any town, district or city where any child between the ages of twelve and fourteen resides, it may be employed in any store, office, hotel, mercantile establishment, laundry, telegraph, telephone or public messenger service in the town, district, or city where it resides, and not elsewhere, provided, that there is first obtained from the commissioner of labor, state factory, inspector, county judge, municipal judge, or from the judge of a juvenile court where the child resides, a written permit, authorizing the employment of such child, within such time.

Reaches Employers

It shall be unlawful for any person firm corporation, agent or manager, of any firm or corporation, to hire or employ, permit or suffer to work in any mine, mercantile establishment, factory or workshop, bowling alley, barroom, beer garden, store, office, hotel, laundry, telegraph, telephone, or public messenger service, any child under 16 years of age unless there is first provided, and placed on file in such mine, mercantile establishment, factory or workshop, bowling alley, barroom, beer garden, store, office, hotel, laundry, telegraph, telephone or public messenger, a permit granted by either the commissioner of labor, state factory inspector, any assistant factory inspector, county judge, municipal judge, or judge of juvenile court where such child resides.

The Liability

"Any person, firm or corporation, agent, or manager of any corporation who, whether for himself, or for such firm or corporation, or by himself, or through agents, servants or foreman, shall violate or fail to comply with any of the provisions of this act or shall hinder or delay the commissioner of labor, the factory or assistant inspector or any or either of them in the performance of their duty or refuse to admit, or shut or lock them out from any place required to be inspected by this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars, or more than one hundred dollars for each offense. Any corporation which, by its agents, officers or servants shall violate or fail to comply with any of the above provisions of this act, shall be liable to the above penalties, which may be recovered against such corporations in action debt or assumpsit brought before any court of competent jurisdiction.

For the Parent "Any parent or guardian, who suffers or permits a child to be employed, or suffered or permitted to work in violation of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than five or more than $25."

UNION OFFICERS STOP FUNERAL AT CHURCH

Insist That Nonunion Carriages Be Sent Away Before the Cortage Proceeds.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 11.—Officers of the local teamsters' union enforced the union rules at the funeral of Richard Kane, who was killed by a railway train. The funeral was held from St. Andrew's cathedral.

Relatives of the deceased hired carriages from Mrs. James E. Boylen. Mrs. Boylen has refused to sign the union agreement, but, not having enough carriages to fill the order for the Kane funeral, she secured four backs from two other liverymen, Norman Miller and George Egler, who in sending these four backs to the funeral on Mrs. Boylen's order violated their agreement with the union.

President Bullock appeared at the church while the services were in progress and refused to allow the union drivers to drive their hacks until the Boylen vehicles had been sent away and union hacks and drivers secured from other barns. This action delayed the funeral procession from the church nearly an hour, during which time the casket rested in the hearse and the mourners stood around outside the church. Mrs. Boylen is indignant over the action of the union officers and declares that she will institute a suit for damages.

RUNAWAY TEAM MAKES A DASH

A Farmer's Team Becomes Frightened and Does a Wild Caper.

A runaway team, belonging to P. P. Flood, a farmer in the town of Janesville, near the fair park, came near injuring several people and causing considerable damage, this morning shortly after nine o'clock. The team, which was hitched to a heavy farm wagon, was standing near the Blodgett mill. They became frightened and started at a swift gallop down South River St. Mr. Flood had hold of the lines when they started and was dragged several yards, but was finally obliged to let go. The wagon, in the wild run down the street came near catching in the wheels of several rigs. At Court street the horses turned down towards the bridge, but at this corner were stopped by J. Kennedy, who is employed at the Bower City Implement Co. One of them fell and became caught in a cultivator, but was liberated unhurt.

Friends of Patient at Wisconsin Asylum Demand Investigation of Northern Asylum.

Fond du Lac, Wis., July 11.—An investigation has been demanded of Gov. La Follette into the circumstances of the death of Grant Brayton, which occurred at the Northern Hospital for the Insane, only three days after the young man was committed. The family of the deceased has engaged legal counsel.

Information concerning the death of Brayton was received thirty-six hours after his demise, though the distance is only eighteen miles. The body was subsequently taken home and interred. Later it was exhumed and some startling discoveries were made. The body had been horribly mutilated, as was reported by the funeral director. It was opened from the throat to the pit of the stomach, the internal organs had been removed and were replaced carelessly, while a portion of the breast bone had been removed. The skull had also been entered and this cavity filled with cotton. The brains were found scattered in the abdominal cavity.

The body was so badly lacerated that it could not be determined whether the deceased was treated with violence before his death or not.

PAYNE IS TO RESIGN FROM CABINET

Postmaster General's Health is Such That He Cannot Attend to the Duties of Office.

Washington, July 11.—Personal friends of Postmaster General Payne are authority for the information circulated at the Postoffice Department that he is anxious to resign his position. His friends assert that he intends to withdraw from office about the time Congress assembles.

The reasons assigned for Mr. Payne's desire to resign from the Postmaster Generalship are solely on account of ill health. Mr. Payne was obliged recently to take a few days' rest in the Catskills. He returned to his duties last Wednesday. Since then he has been severely affected by the warm weather, and upon his physician's advice will leave here next Wednesday for a trip by water to Boston, and may not return before Aug. 1. The physician's advice is mandatory to avoid a collapse.

The statement that Mr. Payne has already submitted his resignation to President Roosevelt is without foundation, although it is said that he has conveyed his wishes to the President and that the latter is anxious to have Mr. Payne remain in his official family.

ROCK RIVER IS VERY POPULAR

Many Charming Little Cottages Have Been Built Along Its Banks.

These warm summer evenings the throb of the launches, swiftly threading their way up and down the stream, the rattle of oarlocks and the merry singing and laughter of rowers are certain evidences of the ever increasing popularity of the upper river as a resting place from the noise and bustle of the city. Above the "Four-mile bridge" there are nearly a dozen pretty summer cottages of Janesville people, and the river, winding among the hills and meadows that slope away from its banks, fringed with bits of woodland, fields of grain and gardens, is a delightful place to rest from business cares and worries.

Summer Cottages

Many people who are not so fortunate to own cottages, have taken tents and are encamped on the river's banks; there are now probably over a dozen camping parties, who are living more or less primitive lives within the six miles above Crystal Springs park.

Some of the cottage owners upstream are Searles, Thorpe, Russell, Winbiger, Cowles, Merritt, Pond, Helms, Ashcraft, Howe, Carlson, Conrad and Kent. Six miles up the river the banks are wooded on both sides and farmhouses and cottages become fewer, but the stream coming down through the bluffs and rolling hills is even prettier than nearer the city. As a convenient, nearby summer resort, Rock river is beginning to be more appreciated than it has been at times in the past.

New launches are being added to the little fleet of river craft almost continually and there are now nearly two dozen of the graceful boats in almost daily use. Much driving is being indulged in this summer along the river roads, many go to and from their cottages by this means in preference to going by water, the roads on both sides of the river being used. On pleasant Sunday afternoons almost every variety of river craft may be seen, from the frail canoe to the big steamer. People in rowboats delight in getting as close to the passing steamboat as possible, so as to be caught in the wake of the boat and rocked in the waves.

POPE LEO IS MUCH BETTER

It Is Now Said He May Live a Fortnight Longer, at the Least.

ROME IS REJOICING

Physicians in Charge of His Holiness Dispute Over the Diagnosis of the Case.

(Special By Scripps-McLain.)

Rome, July 11.—A medical friend of Mazzoni says that there is no doubt that Lapponi's original diagnosis of the pope's illness was incorrect and that the hepatization never existed. The true character of his holiness' illness is nephritis. Alibumen was found in the urine which conclusively proves this statement. Several high officials who left the vatican at noon today declared that the report that the pope was on the verge of death was unfounded. He said: "Unless there are unexpected developments I believe that the pope will live for probably a fortnight longer. The ultimate catastrophe in our opinion, however, is sure. Since early morning his holiness has been cheerful and his strength not seriously weakened. We induced the prelate to remain in bed, neither reading or talking. The great excitement of the past few days have been very severe upon him."

Bulletin Issued

The following bulletin was issued this morning: "The pope slept well during the night at intervals. His pulse is now ninety and has been without irregularity since last evening. The respiration is thirty and the temperature thirty-six centigrade. The renal functions are still deficient but the general condition is somewhat ameliorated."

(Signed) Lapponi, Mazzoni.

London Dispatch

London, July 11.—A news agency report from Rome this morning announces that it is possible that his holiness may be removed to the villa in the vatican gardens where he will be able to enjoy the purest air possible.

Serum May Gather.

At the examination Friday evening the doctors could not perceive any regathering of serum in the pleural cavity, but it was feared that the presence of serum would be detected again, thus rendering necessary perhaps another operation in a few days.

Shortly before midnight the condition of the pontiff was reported to have undergone no change and it was added that he had just dropped peacefully into sleep. At that hour all within the palace was quiet, the pontiff's apartment alone showing signs of life. The pope slept until nearly 2 o'clock Saturday morning, when he woke up, seemingly more refreshed, and asked for food. His pulse was taken and found to vary from 87 to 93. His temperature was 96.4 and his breathing irregular.

Administers Sedatives.

The latter part of the night was not so good owing to the restlessness and uneasiness of the patient. Dr. Lapponi has been going almost every fifteen minutes to look at the pontiff, who did not notice the presence of the doctor, being in a drowsy state. Dr. Lapponi administered a dose of chloral and gave the patient at the same time an injection of camphor-cocaine.

The uncertainty regarding the issue of the pope's illness has caused much confusion at the vatican, and discipline is suffering owing to the waning power of Cardinal Rampolla and the growing authority of Cardinal Oreglia di Santo Stefano.

Volpini's Funeral.

There was an instance of this in the death of Monsignore Volpini, whose body lay neglected all day Wednesday, without the instantia of a prelate's rank, and even without the usual candles. A woman who brought flowers reproached the officials bitterly for abandoning the body.

Usually the funeral of so high an ecclesiastical would have been a prominent event in Rome, but it was completely forgotten in the shadow of the graver impending loss to the church. "The body of Monsignore Volpini seems to have been permitted to remain almost in the condition in which he died. When the ecclesiastical officials realized that their carelessness was attracting unfavorable attention hasty arrangements were made for the interment."

At 5 in the afternoon the coffin was brought down from Monsignore Volpini's room, situated immediately above the pope's apartments, and placed in a communal hearse of the fourth class, drawn by two horses, such as is usually employed for small tradesmen and comparatively poor persons. A few choir boys, monks and priests headed the procession to the Church of Santa Maria, where the final rites were celebrated.

A portrait of George W. Peck of Milwaukee appears in the New York Dramatic News this week under the heading "Caution." The matter refers to the right to produce "Peck's Bad Boy," the names of those to whom territory has been assigned being given and all others warned to keep off the grass. Attached is a special notice by the ex-governor, all of which goes to show that the bad boy is by no means dead yet. As a part of the "to whom it may concern" the following appears:

Peck's Bad Boy is universally conceded to be by far the brightest, funniest and most successful farce comedy of its class ever written. No other, with perhaps one exception, has been played to so many millions of people, produced so much merriment, or given more perfect satisfaction to both managers and the public.

This is what Burns Mantle, the Chicago theatrical writer, has to say of the wearisome sameness of the actor's life:

Isn't their three-hour and their six-hour days that make the players weary. It is the deadening monotony of their calling; the overrating repetition, night after night and week after week, that takes the starch out of them.

"When I used to think of standing day after day in the same spot on the same stage, and repeating the same things to the same men," Clara Morris declared in her lecture, "the thought was absolutely nauseating, and it was only by an exercise of pure will power that I was able to continue."

It is this that kills the interest of the mummies and makes either fools or automatons of them. And they are not to be blamed for demanding a change of scene. The wonder is that they stand it as long as they do. And they could hardly do it with any save the lightest of vehicles. Musical comedy and farce make no demands upon the intellect. Therefore their exponents stand the heat and we stand them.

Work on Klaw & Erlanger's New Amsterdam theatre, on 42d street, near Broadway, is progressing rapidly. Over 1,000 men are now employed on this structure, which will be the most perfect theater in the world. More than 2,000 tons of steel have been utilized in the building. It will really be two theatres, one erected on top of the other. The roof theatre, which will be as complete in every detail as any Broadway house and as large, will be devoted to entirely different class of productions than those presented in the New Amsterdam.

The unusually elaborate system of construction employed in this building is well exemplified in one fact—that the main girder supporting the roof theatre is the largest single piece of iron-work ever put into any building in the world. It is 90 feet long, 14 feet high and weighs 70 tons. The balcony and gallery are constructed on a new principle and are so strong that they could support the weight of a railroad train.

The new theatres will be absolutely fireproof. Every piece of inflammable material used in their construction or decoration will be treated by a process which will make its ignition impossible. Safety, comfort and magnificence, both in the auditoriums and on the stages, irrespective of any question of expense, have been the chief considerations in the planning and construction of this remarkable building.

Walker Whiteside, who has played Shakespeare for many years, is to branch out next season, appearing in a comedy entitled "We Are King," written by Lieutenant Gordon Keane of the British army.

Nance O'Neill has closed a contract with Frank Perley by which she will be under the latter's management for several years. Miss O'Neill will open her season in New York about September 1, appearing in an elaborate production of "Macbeth."

Ethel Barrymore is to open the New Hudson theatre, New York, next October in the Hubert Henry Davies' play, "Cousin Kate." Charles Frohman bought this play over a year ago, and now gives the title role to Miss Barrymore at the request of the author.

"The Belle of New York" is being presented in Paris with great success, but without the belle. All the music allotted to the Salvation Army is sung by eight girls, the piece being made as Frenchy as possible.

As a rule the latter cause a heap of trouble by loaning their annual pass books to their clerks, their employees, or their "beetles" and the latter make themselves a nuisance in the grand stands by their unimpeachable. The mischief of it is that these fellows not only do not pay for their seats, but they help to drive the better class of patrons from the stand.

It is, of course, quite a problem to solve, as to how to get rid of the "deadheads" abuse, but that it should be at least lessened is a fact not to be denied. Unfortunately, the general class of deadheads at ball matches are possessed of the idea that in return for their free passes they have got to act just as the class of claquers at the theater do and that is, to "root" for the home team, fair or foul, and generally they prefer dirty ball methods in their work.

PROVISIONS OF NEW ORDINANCE

ALTERATIONS FROM ORIGINAL FRANCHISE APPLICATION,

TERMS OF GRANTING RIGHTS

In the Revised Ordinance, Which Is Yet To Be Accepted, City Secures Valuable Concessions.

Although an application for an ordinance, and a complete text of the proposed ordinance were published for several weeks, and it was commonly taken for granted that the ordinance submitted by the Janesville Traction company was the one which passed the council, the ordinance which the aldermen approved and the mayor signed were very different from that which appeared in print. "In the ordinance which was first submitted the welfare and convenience of the company were observed to the exclusion of the city's rights; in the revised ordinance this defect was remedied," said one of the aldermen who was a member of the committees which consulted with the representatives of the two rival interurban companies.

The ordinance passed by the council has not yet become law. It will not until it is accepted by the Janesville Traction company. They have ninety days from the date of passage in which to accept the ordinance, and they will probably not do so until ready to begin active operations. As the ordinance was passed by the council on June 8, the company has nearly sixty days in which to file their acceptance. At the time of acceptance they must give their bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, as security for the observance of the conditions of the ordinance.

Changes in Ordinance. The first item in which the ordinance varied from that first passed is that the franchise was granted for thirty-five years instead of fifty.

Other important variations follow: Wyes, turnouts, poles, and other fixtures shall be "the common council shall approve" rather than such as are "necessary."

The right of the company to alter the route originally laid out is closely limited, making it necessary that within ninety days after the passage of the ordinance they shall file with the city clerk their option of three main routes proposed, the filing of which option signifies by the company the abandonment of all other routes.

Stand Bridge Building Cost. Whenever the city of Janesville shall build or rebuild any bridge over which the railway company shall operate its cars, the company shall pay to the city one-half of the cost of building or rebuilding the bridge.

In constructing the railway the road bed on streets not paved shall be macadamized for a space of eight feet for single track and sixteen feet for double track; the rails shall be of the tee or modern grooved pattern as the council shall elect; repaving and improvements shall be maintained at a width of eight feet for single and sixteen for double track, instead of seven feet for single and fourteen for double track.

Instead of maintaining a uniform price of five cents a fare, with privilege of transfer to the Beloit, Janesville, and Delavan Lake road, tickets shall be sold at a rate of six for twenty-five cents, twenty-five for one dollar, or one hundred for three dollars and a half.

Policemen Ride Free. On all regular cars all postmen and members of the police and fire departments shall be carried free of charge when in uniform.

The bond to be filed is in the sum of ten thousand dollars instead of five thousand dollars.

The above items of alteration represent the gain to the city resultant upon ex-Mayor Richardson's action in vetoing the ordinance which the last common council passed. The same company ultimately secured the rights, but in order to do so they were obliged to make valuable concessions to the city.

Arthur Stevens, the eleven-year-old son of C. D. Stevens, has just received a prize for a pen-and-ink drawing.

He was one of a number who competed in a contest conducted by the Correspondence Institute of America, located at Scranton, Pa.

The drawing was a profile of a woman, and was entitled "Without Work."

The artist has never taken any lessons, although he has received some suggestions from Mrs. Judd, his grandmother.

WANT CONVENIENT DRINKING FOUNTAIN

It Is Said That No One of the Public Watering Places Is Properly Equipped.

A movement is being quietly pushed for a public fountain of a more elaborate, as well as more convenient pattern.

Of the six principal drinking fountains and watering troughs in the city—located at the Corn Exchange, the courthouse park, the Second ward grocery, the Fountain house, the Fourth ward grocery, and the corner of Milton and Milwaukee avenues—not one furnishes a neat and convenient drinking place.

The pattern advocated for the fountain is such that horses may drink without being unchecked, and has a lower water receptacle for dogs, as well as a drinking fountain for the public.

It is said the project will be brought before the public in the form of a definite proposition at an early date.

BRIEFLETS

Hit by Pipe: Fred Smith was yesterday knocked unconscious by a piece of lead pipe which fell upon him, striking him near the temple, and inflicting a slight laceration in the skin. He was fastening the pipe along the roof of a cellar in a first ward home and had it propped in place. The support slipped and allowed the pipe to fall, and it was several minutes before he regained consciousness, revived by the cool air of the cellar.

Honored Janesville People: At the session of the state fair board held yesterday in Milwaukee several Janesville people were honored by being placed among the judges of the coming fair. C. S. Cleland is to be judge of fine wool sheep; Mrs. J. T. Henderson, needlework; Mrs. C. E. Bowles, culinary art; and Grant Fisher will be superintendent of the swine department.

Entertained for Father: Mrs. William M. Ross, 229 South Main St., entertained today in honor of the 71st birthday of her father, William Partridge. Those present from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. William Partridge of Plymouth, Mrs. Minnie Crandall of St. Paul, Mrs. Myron West of Beloit, and Miss Mattie Parmely of Beloit.

Band Concert Postponed: On account of the rain it was necessary to postpone the band concert scheduled for last evening.

To Hold Examinations: County Superintendent Hemmingsway will hold teachers' examinations in this city beginning a week from Monday, and continuing three days, and the following three days at Evansville. Eloft Man Chosen: W. F. Bauehle of Beloit was elected senior vice commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans' association in Milwaukee yesterday.

Wanted—an Occupation. When they asked Reginald Vanderbilt his occupation he replied, "Gentleman." When they asked the same question of Harry Payne Whitney he answered: "I don't know what name to give to that." Perhaps Col. Watter-son could be induced to take an hour or two off to coin a word that will fittingly describe the moneyed leisure class of this great nation?

MEMORIAL DAY ON THE SABBATH

THAT IS WAY THE GRAND ARMY WANTS IT.

RESOLUTIONS LAST NIGHT

W. H. Sargent Post No. 20 Takes Initial Step in Regard to Changing Date of Holiday.

Although the subject had received general discussion in many Grand Army meetings in this and other states, it remained with the W. H. Sargent Post, No. 20 of this city, to take the initiative step toward changing the date of Memorial day so that it will fall on Sunday.

Cause for this radical action was found in the growing tendency of the cities to employ the thirtieth of May for celebrations of nature wholly out of harmony with the sacred associations which it has to the man who wears the Grand Army button. Baseball games, excursions, circuses, and a multitude of other attractions secularize and profane today.

Secular Interference. Last Memorial day, the parade of veterans was twice rudely forced to halt, once by a circus procession and once by a minstrel parade.

The possibility of such occurrences would be minimized by changing the date so that it would come upon the last Sunday of May or the first Sunday of June, while its position on the calendar will be relatively unchanged.

Passed Resolution. With the purpose of bringing this matter before the proper authorities, the W. H. Sargent Post last evening unanimously adopted the following resolution, presented by E. D. Heimstreet:

Resolved: That the members of W. H. Sargent Post, G. A. R., use their influence in every way, by appeals to other Posts of the Grand Army and to the officers of the state encampment, to petition congress to change the date of Memorial day from May 30th to the last Sunday in May, or the first Sunday in June of each year.

A Genuine Cat. "This is no stuffed owl, or bobtail, either," said Mr. J. M. Finch, of Tigetown, Shawano county, Wis., on Milwaukee St., this morning. "This animal is the real thing—a genuine cat." The beast certainly looked wild, and appeared, too, to belong to the cat family. "I am travelling through the state," continued Mr. Finch, "showing him off for a nickel a look. I would not sell him for fifty dollars." This statement was readily believed in by the bystanders, for it was with difficulty that five cents even was produced, that the crowd might see the exhibition. Mr. Finch related a tale of how the animal was captured in Alaska too harrowing to put in print. The cat, a fine specimen, is six months old, but is a large animal and appeared decidedly ugly when poked with a stick. The box in which it was kept, was secured to the back of a one-seated wagon drawn by an antiquated horse. Under the wagon seat was two jugs and a bottle. The spectators were assured that the permission to show the beast had been secured from the chief of police.

ELECTION WAS NOT QUESTIONED

Alderman Connell's Position as to Lost Votes Was Mere Example.

Editor of Gazette: Dear Sir.—I notice in your paper of last evening an article headed, Ward Election Not Assured, in which you give some figures taken from a statement made up by one of the voters that were "lost" at the last city election. I have compared your figures with those of the official returns on file in the city clerk's office and find that they are correct. I take the liberty, however, of wishing to call your attention to something in the first paragraph, which if read carelessly, may give your readers a wrong impression of the meaning of this statement—that it might be inferred from the first paragraph that Mr. Edward Connell's election to the office of alderman is questionable. I hasten to assure you that it was not the intention of my statement to give any such impression. The statement was made out for the sole purpose of demonstrating to the aldermen that under the paper ballot system there is a large opportunity for voters to spoil their ballots and also for the inspectors to be unable to ascertain exactly for which candidate the vote should be counted. In the vote for alderman in the Second ward it is true that the number of votes lost does not exceed the plurality of the successful candidate and if it so happened that more than eight of the fifteen lost votes were intended to be cast for the successful candidate, in that case his plurality would have been much greater or twenty-one instead of eight. I write you this for the reason that I do not wish to have your readers suppose that in making out this statement we in any way questioned the validity of the election. As I say our statement is submitted only to demonstrate that the elections as they are now held are subject to many errors even on the part of the most careful of voters and election officers and that a large part if not all of these errors can be forever done away with by the introduction of voting machines. Should you care to publish part or all of this letter I should be perfectly willing to have you do so.

S. C. HAMILTON.

COMMITTEE HOLDS CLOSING SESSION

Barbers' Board Meets in City to Close Routine Business—Many Applications.

To escape the constant questionings of barbers, newspaper men, a host of other distractions, the barbers' board last evening came to this city from Milwaukee to complete the business of their meeting for organization.

No action of outside interest was taken by them. Only a few routine questions were disposed of.

Although they had intended to settle upon that matter, a design for the certificates and license cards was not chosen. Each barber will be provided with a small card, about 5 by 7 inches in size to prove his right to practise.

For the license to be exhibited in the shop, a larger card, about 9 by 12 inches in size, will be used.

Already M. H. Whitaker, secretary of the board, has received between two and three hundred letters of inquiry and requests for application blanks. Ignorance as to the proper course of proceeding is manifested by many of the writers.

Some of the barbers inclosed a dollar bill and asked for a license. Instead of pursuing the proper course and requesting an application blank, Messrs. Douhan and Helms left on a midnight train for their homes.

Mrs. A. L. Curry and daughter left this afternoon for their home in Evanston. Mr. Curry has been visiting her parents, Col. and Mrs. Kimberley, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Murdock, accompanied them to the Illinois city for a short stay.

FIRST REPORT ON THE CROPS

A STATEMENT FROM LA PRAIRIE.

FIGURES REGARDING ACREAGE

County Clerk Starr Will Be Late with Abstract—All Assessors Are Delayed.

D. M. Jones of the town of La Prairie is the first of the assessors to make his crop return to County Clerk Starr. The blanks came in this morning, showing the number of acres of growing crops in the township, as well as the number of bushels of the various grains and other farm products which the land brought forth last year.

In general the returns will probably be late this year, and County Clerk Starr does not expect to be able to complete the abstract of assessment until considerably later than his returns, this year.

Last year the abstract of crops was completed on the 12th day of August and of assessment on the 15th of September, but the delay attendant upon the slowness in distributing the assessment blanks worked against the assessors in preparing their returns.

A property owner called at the city hall this afternoon and desired to pay his taxes. It will be many days before he will have that pleasure.

MR. BURDICK OBJECTS TO THE STORY AS IT WAS TOLD

Says the Workmen Did Not Pull Him Out of the Hole to Set the Pole.

Mr. D. C. Burdick says he was not pulled from the hole in front of his house in order to make room for the pole as has been reported. He did object to having the pole placed where it was, but when he had consulted with Alderman Lowell he decided to allow it to be done and went into the house and was not present when the pole was erected.

INTERIOR TRADE IS ENCOURAGING

STEEL MARKET REMAINS QUIET

Repairs Being Made at the Various Mills Is Cause of Some Idleness—Instability in Price of Raw Cotton Retards Manufacture.

New York, July 11.—"Business again responds to improved conditions. Retail distribution of merchandise is accelerated by more seasonable weather and fewer labor controversies, while wholesale and jobbing trade, especially in the interior, shows the encouraging effect of brighter agricultural prospects. There is the customary excessive demand for farm hands. Reports of holiday traffic and trade in holiday goods indicate no diminution in purchasing power, and semi-annual inventories show a more gratifying situation than expected," according to R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade. Continuing, the report says:

Less Idleness.

"There is less than the usual mid-summer idleness in manufacturing except in the cotton industry. Commodity prices advanced slightly during June. Dun's index number on July 1 being $99.456, compared with $98.356 a month earlier. A decline of 2.4 per cent is recorded in comparison with July, 1902, chiefly in articles of food. Railway earnings for June are 22.1 per cent larger than last year and 25.3 in excess of 1901.

"Installation of new converters and other repairs interfere with work at some prominent steel mills, which explains in part the quiet condition of the market. Escamper pig delivered at Pittsburgh can be bought for $12.75, which is the lowest point thus far of the recent decline. Structural material is again an active feature, especially for large buildings and railway bridges at the West.

Tin and Copper Lower.

"Makers of agricultural implements and vehicles are liberal purchasers of tin and copper. Tin and copper are again lower, the latter selling below the official quotation, which has been reduced to 14 cents.

"Violent changes in quotations of raw material are never good for business in finished products, so that as yet the cotton goods manufacture shows no improvement in response to fluctuations at the cotton exchanges. But it is certain that there will ultimately come a revival of normal activity at the mills when the material reaches a less inflated level at which goods can be manufactured with profit. Meanwhile stocks of goods in dealers' hands have fallen low, and others are insisting on generally higher prices than they did a week ago.

Market for Woolens.

"New lines of medium and low grade woolens have been opened at prices and met with an average demand. Reorder business in heavy light woolens is moderate, and quotations are irregular. Raw wool is firmly held, fair prices being secured at the London auction sales. Supplementary orders for fall footwear are received by New England factories from eastern jobbers, but western wholesalers are still holding back contracts.

"Failures numbered 134 in the United States, against 193 last year, and 24 in Canada, compared with 19 a year ago."

LOW EBB OF YEAR IN THE FACTORIES

Manufacturing Industries Are Carrying Short Force and Waiting for the Busy Season.

"It is the opinion of financial men all over the country," said a prominent banker yesterday, "that the crest of the wave of prosperity has not yet been reached; that there is little danger of over production in the manufacturing for several years yet." It is the general opinion also among local business men that, although trade is rather slow now, this is the dull season and business is better all through than at the same time last summer.

Quiet Season

The breweries in the city are working overtime, but aside from these, work at the factories is very quiet. Of the dozen and a half or more bigger local industries only about eight of them are running full force. The employees of many are taking their vacations, as this is the most convenient time for both employers and employed. Some of the companies are making repairs, additions and changes in their buildings and a few of them are closed down always at this time of the year.

Throughout the country the order of events when the crest of the wave of expansion has been reached has been pretty clearly illustrated by the crisis of the past century, says the "Financial Review."

Crisis in Industry

Crisis of over-production, over-capitalization, and over-expansion of credit are an almost necessary incident of the modern organization of industry and credit, which by a long series of intermediate steps has separated the producer from the consumer. The differences in the progress of events on the different occasions of industrial collapse have been rather differences in the intensity of different factors of the problem than differences in kind. They have been differences of light and shade rather than of substance. The great increase in the productive capacity of mills and factories has first outrun the demand for their products. There has then come a slackening of orders, diminished earnings, and the stoppage of dividends. Such events, when they affect stock companies, bring their inevitable penalty in the decline of quotations on the Stock Exchange. This decline generally reflects not merely the rate of the decline in gross earnings but the rate of decline in net earnings or profits. A serious fall in quotations on the Stock Exchange for certain securities reacts upon the prices of others, and the general fall sets in which drives the banks to call their loans, paralyzes credit and invites unreasoning panic.

Future Will Tell

Whether this series of events will soon cloud the present fair prospect of business prosperity in the United States it is for the future to disclose. The fact that an industrial depression has prevailed for some time in Germany, and that a serious shrinkage in Russian securities has been occasioned by over-capitalization in Russia, are likely to react in some degree upon the more conservative business of France and Great Britain and to be extended from those countries to the United States. This was in part the genesis of the crisis of 1893, when the Baring failure of 1890 led to the surrender of American securities in London in order to realize money and added to the strain put upon American finance by the defects of our currency system.

OF UNTOLD VALUE

The Information Contained in This Gentleman's Statement is Priceless.

The hale, the hearty, the strong can afford to toss this paper to one side impatiently when they read the following but any sufferer in Janesville who has suffered hours of torture caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered here:

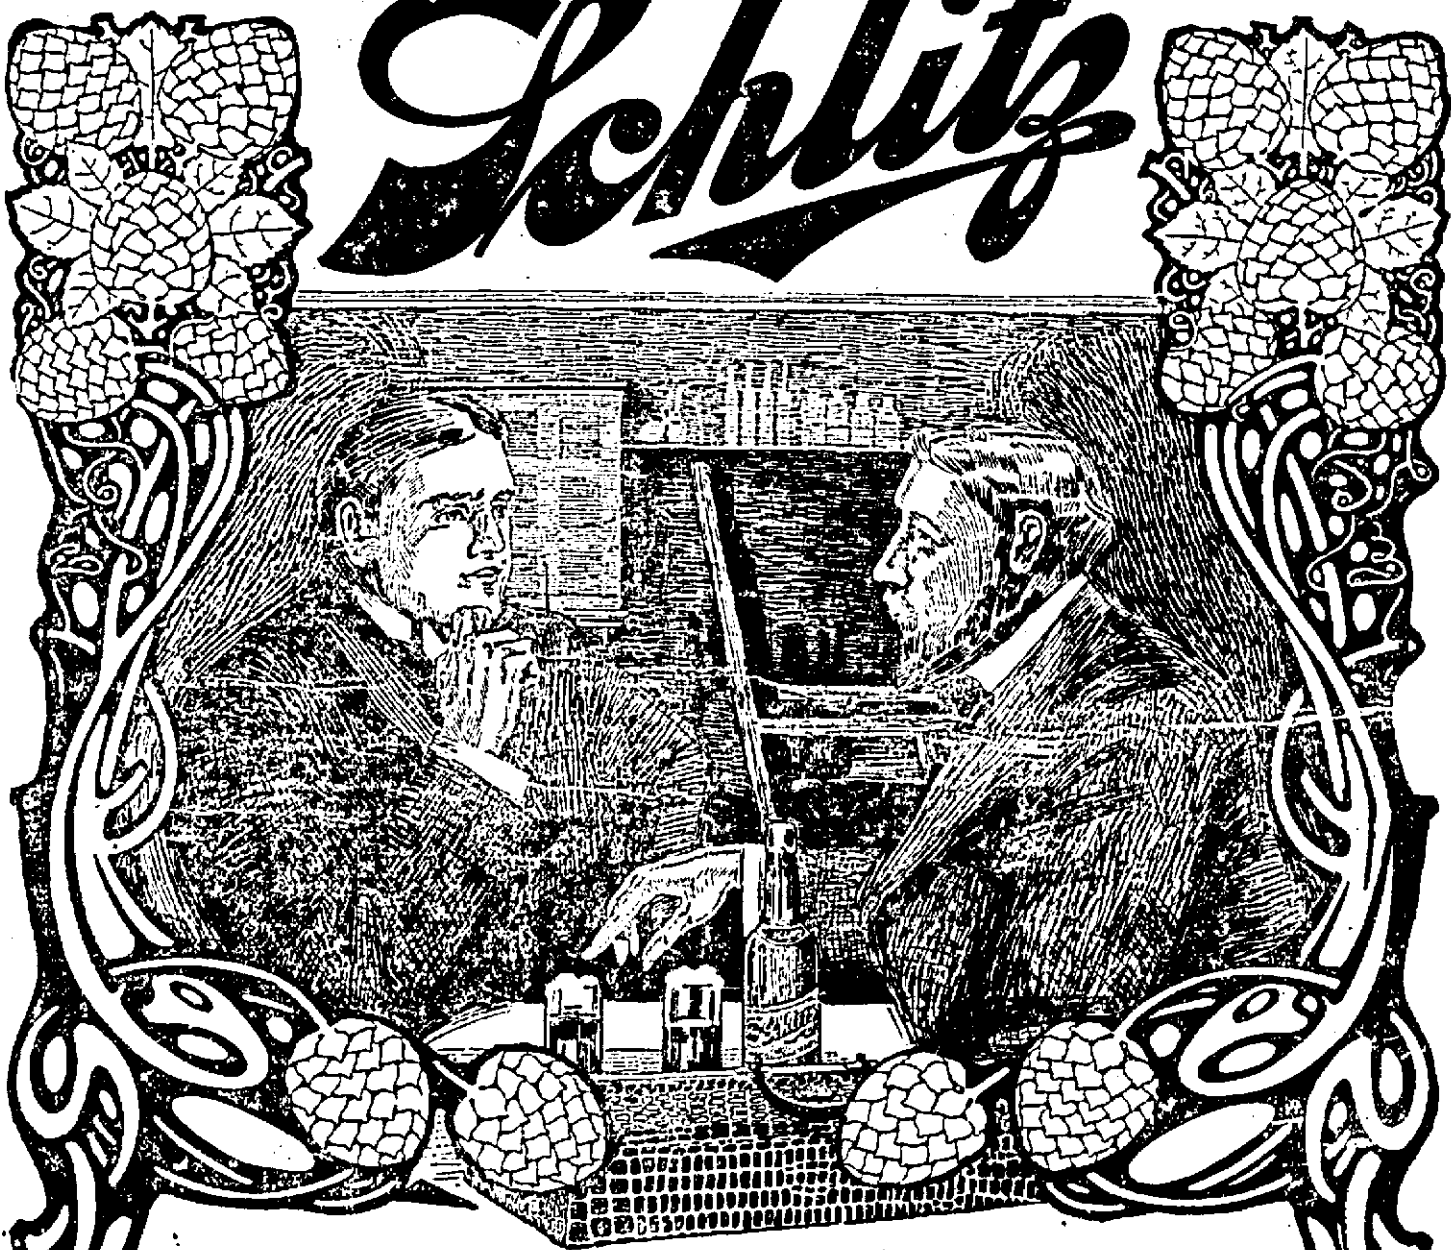

Mr. W. Samp of 412 Euclid avenue, proprietor of the largest rock quarry business in Beloit, says: "I had trouble with my kidneys for many years. It consisted mainly of a lame and aching back and there were occasional times when I had such severe attacks that I could not get out of the house for two or three weeks at a time. I was then practically helpless for it was painful to move. At other times it assumed a milder form being a dull aching across my kidneys. Used medicines of different kinds but I never found anything that gave the satisfaction Doan's Kidney Pills gave. This remedy is worthy of a high recommendation and it is a pleasure for me to endorse it as doing all that is claimed for it."

Just such emphatic endorsements can be had right here in Janesville. Drop into the People's Drug Co.'s store and ask what their customers report.

Schlitz

A Doctor's Reasons

Patient: "Why do you say Schlitz beer? Isn't any other beer as good?"

Doctor: "Perhaps; but I don't know it. I do know that Schlitz beer is pure."

Patient: "What do you mean by pure?"

Doctor: "I mean free from germs. Impurity means bacilli; and in a saccharine product like beer bacilli multiply rapidly. I do not recommend a beer that may contain them."

Patient: "How do you know that Schlitz beer is pure?"

Doctor: "I have seen it brewed. Cleanliness is carried to extremes in that brewery. The beer is cooled in plate glass rooms, in filtered air. The beer is then filtered. Yet, after all these precautions, every bottle is sterilized—by Pasteur's process—after it is sealed. I know that beer treated in that way is pure."

Patient: "And is pure beer good for me?"

Doctor: "It is good for anybody. The hops form a tonic; the barley a food. The trifle of alcohol is an aid to digestion. And the custom of drinking beer supplies the body with fluid to wash out the waste. People who don't drink beer seldom drink enough fluid of any kind. A great deal of ill-health is caused by the lack of it."

Patient: "But doesn't beer cause biliousness?"

Doctor: "Not Schlitz Beer. Biliousness is caused by 'green' beer—beer that is insufficiently aged. But Schlitz beer is always aged for months before it is marketed."

Ask for the brewery bottling.

MARSHAL STOPS LYNCHING BEE

ATTACK ON TWO MERCHANTS

Assailant Shoots One Member of Dry Goods Firm and Treats Partner to Two Bullets When He Attempts to Render Assistance.

Mason City, Ill., July 11.—Attacked without apparent cause while quietly serving their customers, Irving Rosenfield and Julius Frank, prominent merchants of this town, were dangerously, perhaps fatally, wounded by revolver shots fired by Edward Barton, a former resident of Mason City. The assailant, overpowered by his victims' clerks, narrowly escaped lynching, mob violence being averted only by the rapidity with which the city marshal removed his prisoner to the county jail at Havana.

Assault Is Unprovoked.
Barton entered the clothing store of which his victims are proprietors at 5:45 a. m., ostensibly to make a small purchase. He was being waited upon courteously by Mr. Rosenfield, but suddenly turned away from him and walked to the back of the store, where Mr. Frank was sitting. Without uttering a word of warning Barton drew a revolver and leveled it at Frank, who jumped up with a startled outcry, only to meet a bullet which pierced his lungs.

Grapples With Assassin.
Hearing the shot and seeing his partner pitch to the floor with a groan, Mr. Rosenfield dashed at Barton, who whirled around to defend himself and fired two shots in quick succession. Each bullet reached its mark, one shattering his arm and the other tearing through his side just below the heart, without stopping Rosenfield's onward rush. With wonderful nerve and endurance, he grappled with Barton, and, locked in a tight clinch, the two rolled upon the floor. The clerks came to Rosenfield's aid, and Barton was soon beaten into submission.

Lynching Is Threatened.
The shots attracted a crowd, which filled the store and began to make angry threats of a short shirt and a long rope for Barton, but before violent action was taken the prisoner was placed under arrest and taken to jail in the county seat by the marshal.

Insanity or revenge is the theory, with which the citizens of Mason City are attempting to explain the murderous attack. There is no evidence, however, that Barton cherished a grudge against the two merchants, who are pleasant-mannered gentlemen, and were never known to have an enemy.

Possible Cause.
A point has developed which may explain the shooting. It was said that he had owed the firm a small bill for several years and that he had been mailed a demand for payment recently.

Rosenfield and Frank were taken to their rooms in the Commercial hotel and given immediate surgical attention. Surgeons arrived from Jacksonville to co-operate with local doctors. The condition of Frank is most critical, but some hope is expressed for the recovery of Rosenfield if inflammation can be prevented.

Rosenfield came here five years ago from New York to enter into partnership with Frank, who was born here. Both are middle-aged and unmarried.

John Sargent, the famous portrait painter, has a morbid dread of publicity. It not believed that he ever consented to be interviewed.

Robbing the Express

(Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.)

For two years after receiving the appointment of express messenger I had the best luck in getting through without adventure. My instructions were simply to "look out for everybody." I was twenty-three years old and pretty well posted on the wily crooks worked the express cars.

I wish to explain to you that the contracts with the railroads in those days only called for one-third or one-half the baggage car. Rates were high, and not one-twentieth part of the stuff now shipped went by express, then. Sometimes I had nothing at all except the small iron safe in which the money was carried. The baggage man, therefore, occupied the same car, and the conductor and brakeman were privileged to pass through or sit down on the trunk for a chat and a smoke.

As the run was at that particular date, we reached Susquehanna, going west, at 10 o'clock at night and remained about thirty minutes. After receiving my express matter I was free to lock the car if the baggage man was not there and go out for a cup of coffee at the lunch counter. If my companion was too busy to get away, as was often the case, he kept his eyes open on my corner. As the safe was locked and chained there was little fear of anybody getting away with it.

On April 23, 1890, I had about $50,000 on the run west. At Honesdale, where we had a six minute stop, two strangers got into a wrangle with the baggage man about a trunk and nearly killed him by a blow from a coupling pin. He had to be left behind, while a brakeman took his place. I had not yet spoken to the latter, and we scarcely knew each other by sight, as his station was at the tail end of the train and he had been on that run only two or three weeks.

As the train stopped at Susquehanna I ran back about a square to a small restaurant after my usual piece of pie. I had got it and turned to go when a man who was going in struck me a blow under the ear and laid me out. He explained to the restaurant man that I had insulted him and then walked away. It was fifteen minutes before I recovered sufficiently to make my way back to the train, and then I speedily discovered that there had been a put up job all around. The quarrel with the baggage man had been brought about to get him out of the way. I had not been absent over three minutes when a man, whom the brakeman supposed to be me from his general appearance, entered the car, with a sandwich in his hand, sat down on my stool and ate it and then asked him to help get the safe off and into a wagon backed up to the car. He knew nothing of the express business and readily complied and saw the vehicle drive off with me seated on the safe.

It was a bold piece of work, as you'll admit, and it was the boldness of it that disarmed suspicion. The wagon had been gone ten minutes when I entered the car, and it took me another five minutes to convince the brakeman that I was not an impostor. By the time I had hunted up the conductor and we had found an officer the wagon had about half an hour start of us. The only clue to be had was from a boy. He had noticed the wagon, which was drawn by one horse, come up about a quarter of an hour before train time. He had noticed it because the driver almost drove over him and then swore at him; also because the fire on one of the hind wheels was loose, and the man pounded it on with a stone while waiting and tried to find water to pour on the wheel. He had seen the outfit backed up to the car, but had not noticed it drive off.

To say that I was half crazy would not be an exaggeration. I set off up the street leading to town without any definite idea of where I was going or what I was going to do. It was absurd, of course, to think of overtaking the wagon, but I hurried on just the same. When I reached a public square and found four streets branching off I took the one to the left and made no halt. I had gone about four blocks from the square and was running in the middle of the street when a boy called to me from the sidewalk:

"Say, mister, are you after that 'ere hoss an' wagon which went up that way?"

"Yes, yes. Did it go this way?"

"She did, an' the fellows had to git down here an' fix a wheel. What made you git left?"

I pushed on without stopping to answer the question. If obliged to stop for the tire I might overhaul them if my wind held out.

I was out of the town and into the country in half a mile more, and as I ran on I suddenly came upon the horse and wagon—the horse tied to the roadside fence and one of the wagon wheels completely gone. The tailboard of the wagon was down, and right there the rail fence had been dung aside to open a passage. The night was not so dark but that I could make out the trail of the safe as it was dragged along. There was a strip of plowed field and then a forest, and I got sight of the men midway of the field.

I ran directly at them, shouting and firing my revolver as I advanced, and they took leg bail for it and disappeared in the woods.

One of them was arrested two weeks later, and through him we learned the particulars. There were five men in the job, and except for that loose tire they would have had that money in such a safe place before morning that it might never have turned up again.

I saved it by "fool's luck," but even "fool's luck" is a handy thing to have about the house sometimes.
